Nehemiah 1:3-4

...and they said to me, "The remnant there in the province who had survived the exile is in great trouble and shame. The wall of Jerusalem is broken down, and its gates are destroyed by fire."

4 As soon as I heard these words I sat down and wept (cried) and mourned for days, and I continued fasting and praying before the God of heaven

What has touched your life
as it relates to serving?

A white ceramic coffee cup is shown from a low angle, with coffee being poured into it from above. The coffee is splashing slightly. A black rectangular text box is overlaid on the upper part of the image, containing white text. The text asks a reflective question about the importance of serving others.

Ask yourself this question,
why should serving others
matter to me?

A close-up photograph of a person's hands holding a white ceramic mug with a purple horizontal stripe. The person is smiling, and their face is partially visible in the background, which is softly blurred. The lighting is warm and natural.

Serving is not what you get but rather
what you give.
